BREED THEATER.

Brother Against Brother, Stirring Moving Picture of the War.

One of the strongest features of the excellent bill presented at the Breed excellent bill presented at the Breed theater last evening was the big picture. Brother Against Brother, the greatest war story ever produced in motion pictures. This picture abounds in pathetic scenes, followed by intense military strategy, and is filled with thrilling climanes, and carries the splendid plot of two brothers fighting in opposing armies. The strenuous days of the Civil war are correctly respreduced, as are the exciting days on the Rappahannock and the fight at Buckton's Bridge. This is a picture full of the pathos that grips the heart and the kind that you will remember. Another big feature picture is The Canebroaker's Bride, a sensational pic-Canebreaker's Bride, a sensational pic-ture of the south, with a wonderful flight through the banana groves. Other attractions are the motion pictures of The Ringleaders, The Jealous Hubby, The Warden's Nightmare, Hungry Hank's Hallucination, and the famous educational picture, Life on a French Training Ship.

An extensive musical bill is on for the verninder of the week and week.

An extensive musical bill is on for the remainder of the week and made a distinct hit at the performance last evening, Madam Morelle singing the splendid military song Taps and the operatic duet with Mr. Dalaney entitled The Garden of Dreams, which is accompanied by a handsome set of colored sides. This won for the singers a well merited encore, when they were connelled to again sing this haunting compelled to again sing this haunting theme. Mr. Delaney also sings suc-cessfully the song I'll Be Walting at the Old Turnstile and the military song

AT THE RODERICK.

To say that the audiences were pleased with the fine programme at the Roderick on Thursday is putting it mildly—if one could judge by the generous applause at each perform-ance. Every picture was watched with great interest and close attention, Lost in a Snow Storm is a magnificent reel, portraying the adventures of two poor little children and the wonderful sagacity and almost human intelligence of the St. Bernard dogs who rescue them. The Adventures of a Chauffeur was very interesting, and Stolen for day.

Spite was very pathetic. There are several other fine pictures. One of the features of the evening was the lecturette, consisting of a series of photos of the battleships being shown while descriptions of each were read. This is an arroyed to be very settlement.

Miss Heffernan sang Fraid Cat'
very prettily, while Mr. Dudley scored another success with the sweet ballad The Old Postmaster. The bill remains the same for Friday and Saturday and is well worth seeing. Afternoon at 2.30 and evening at 7. Admission as usual 5 cents.

Pure Food Law Necessary.

Some one evidently familiar with the working of the pure food law describes anonymously in the Druggists' Circular a few of the abuses that were remedied by its operation. Imagine a compoung of ground olive pits, cornmeal and paradles seeds masquerading under the name of black pepper, and under the name of black pepper, and retailing at two ounces for five cents; or mustard made of wheat flour dyed or mustard made of wheat flour dyed with the other and flavored with mustard oil. Picture the delights of strawberry jam composed of glucose, clover seed, chemical flavoring and cochineal. Is there any wonder that manufacturers of such awful stuff objected strenuously to the pure food law?—Rutland News.

Convincing. Two boys, Jones and James, were equally taught that it is more biessed to give than to receive. But John didn't believe it. Years passed, however, the boys grew up, and John fell into evil ways, being, in fact, elected alderman from his ward. As such he received a bribe.

And curlously enough it was by none other than James that the bribe was

But while John went to prison for a long term of years, James remained superintendent of his Sabbath school and was looked upon as a godly man.

than to receive!" exclaimed John, convicted .- Puck.

Ireland's Immunity from Crime. I quoted the other day some facts from the Ulster Guardian, showing, on the authority of the judge's charges at the spring assizes, how free from crime Ireland has recently been. A crown phosecutor now writes to me from Dublin further pointing the moral by giving the exact figures. He shows that in 32 counties (excluding Cork, where crime was of a very normal type) there were only 128 indictments, mostly of a very ordinary character. This number works out at only four a coun-ty or 25 to each 1,000,000 of the population. My correspondent triumuhantly asks: "Do the records of any country in the world exhibit such immunity from crime?"—London Dally News,

MISSES' BATHING SUIT.

Paris Pattern No. 2013 - All Sens Allowed.

Developed in cafe-au-lait mehair, this is a simple and practical model. The blouse has an applied plastron yoke, stitched with red and trimmed with small red mohair buttons. The planted skirt is attached to the blouse under the belt, and the short sleeves are finished with stitched bands trimmed with buttons matching those on the yoke. The full bloomers are attached to a yoke, the lower edges being gathered to the knees by elastic, run through the hem-casing, and the removable chemisette is of red mohair, or of the material, according to taste.

The pattern is in three sizes—13 to 17 years. For a miss of 15 years the bathing suit requires 8% yards of material 27 inches wide, 6% yards of material 27 inches wide, 6% yards of inches wide, 5% yards 42 inches wide or 4% yards 5% inches wide.

Floating Island in the Andriscoggin. One of the peculiar relics of the high water in the Andriscoggin came ashore on the Lewiston bank of the river above the falls Friday. It was a regular floating island, which came drifting down and into shallow water. It was of quite respectable size, and on it were trees, several of them described as being six or eight inches in diamas being six or eight inches in diam-eter. They were probably part of an overhanging bank which the water un-dermined, and when they broke loose were held together by the intertwined roots.—Kennebec Journal.

What is Needed Now.

Forty cities are represented in the Public Playgrounds association movement to secure a safe and sane Fourth of July. Of courseft the original Fourth of July was not safe. At the time there was also considerable doubt as to its sanity. But that does not justify its persequention in the present as to its sanity. But that does not justify its perpetuation in the present homicidal and suicidal form. What we need now is a Declaration of Independence against the Fourth of July.—

REFLECTIONS ON THE DANDELSON.

The dandelion new observe.
The freshest plant of all.
It has the most exalted nerve,
The most colonal gall.
"Get all you can," so runs its creed.
"And give a biame sight less;
These are the simple rules that lead
To glittering success."

When other flowers have slosed their The dandellon labors.
And everlastingly it tries
To overcome its neighbors.
The bluegrass and the clover fies
Before its competition;
It has no social sympathy
To check its flerce ambition.

Although its harm is something great.

It gets a lot of real estate
By rooting all the time.
So nerve and front and diligence
Will surely take us far.

KEEP FISHIN.

Hi Somers was the durindest cuss
For catchin fish—he sure was great
He never used to make no fuss
About the kind of pole or balt.
Er weather, neither; he'd jest say,
"I got to ketch a mess today"
An' toward the creek you'd see him
silde.
A-whistlin' soft an' walkin' wide.
I says one day to Hi, says I.
"How do you always ketch 'em, Hi?"
He gave his balt another switch in.
An', chucklin', says, "I jest keep
fishin'."

He took to readin' law at night
And pretty soon, the first we knowed.
He had a lawsuit, won his fight,
An' was a lawyer! I'll be blowed!
He knowed more law than Squire McKnab!
An' though he had no "gift of gab"
To brag about, somehow he made
A sober sort of talk that played
The mischlef with the other side.
One day, when someone asked if Hi'd
Explain how he got in condishin.
He laughed an' said, "I jest kept
fishin'."

Well, HI is Gov'ner Somers, now;
A big man round the state, you bet—
To me the same old Hi, somehow;
The same old champen fisher, yet.
It wan't so much the bair er pole.
It wan't so much the fishin' hole.
That won fer Hi his big success;
'Twas jest his fishin' on I guess;
A cheerful, stiddy, hopeful kind
Of keepin' at it—don't you mind?
And that is why I can't help wishin'
That more of us would jest keep
fishin'."
